TRY THIS FAMOUS HAIR TONIC FREE

It Won't Cost You a Cent if It Doesn't Stop Falling Hair and Remove All Dandruff, Says the Red Cross Pharmacy

Right away we want you to try Parisian Sage, one of the most delightful, refreshing and invigorating hair tonics the world has ever known. If you have dandruff and Parisian Sage doesn't remove every trace of it—money back from your druggist. If your hair is falling or you have terrible scalp itch, Parisian Sage will stop both or money back. It aims to prevent baldness by putting life and nourishment into the hair, and the first application makes your head feel so good that you will at once realize why we are so enthusiastic about Parisian Sage. It's women's favorite hair tonic because it gives to the hair a brilliancy and luster that fascinates and compels admiration. The Red Cross Pharmacy has scores of people who use Parisian Sage regularly and will tell you all about it—Adv.

RANDOLPH

Interesting Meeting of Beulah Chapter, O. E. S., with Special Features.

Beulah chapter, Order of Eastern Star, held a large and very interesting meeting on Thursday evening. A supper was served at 7 o'clock, at which there were about 50 people, and this was followed by the regular meeting. In addition to the initiatory work, there was a flag presentation service which was enjoyed by all. A complete set of officer's jewels, and a fine American flag have just been purchased, the latter being of large dimensions, all silk with a border of gold fringe, gold cord and tassels, mounted on a pole, at the top of which is an eagle. It is one of the best, if not superior to any in town, and the chapter may well be proud of their flag and jewels, which were largely paid for by the members of the chapter. The march was given by the members of the chapter, all holding flags, this being arranged and drilled by the worthy patron, Dr. W. W. Holden. The grand officers, who were expected to be present at this meeting, were detained by illness, much to the disappointment of all.

Mrs. Nettie Rix underwent a serious operation on Thursday at the sanatorium for the removal of gall stones, and at the present is perhaps as well as could be expected.

A junior missionary society was organized this week, in connection with the Methodist church, which bears the name of the King's Heralds. Mrs. Lena Wright is the supervisor of children's work, with Miss M. A. Osteyne as assistant. The officers are as follows: President, Gertrude Slack; vice president, Carolyn Wright; recording secretary, Doris Reynolds; corresponding secretary, Paul Wright; treasurer, Rothie Porter; agent for the Junior Missionary Fund, Hazel Calkins. The next meeting will be held at the parsonage early in March, and will be held thereafter once each month.

At the annual meeting of the Rochester club last Tuesday evening, the secretary's report revealed the following figures: Total receipts for the year, $108.83; expenses, $104.28; balance, $88.55; sanatorium donation, $20; rest room, $10; clothing, flowers and other gifts, $29.83; leaving an actual balance of $27.41, and the present bank account of the club amounts to $119.21. At this meeting a club song, composed by Mrs. Cora Robbins and sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," was given by seven young ladies, all dressed in white and bearing flowers and evergreens, with a club banner upheld by the club officers, was among the features. Mrs. Cora Robbins also composed and read "The Annual Roll Call," in which many of the members and officers were mentioned in a very witty manner, and Mrs. Robbins proved herself a writer of ability. Recitations by the young people followed and the meeting was one of great pleasure.

Thirty-nine couples attended the dance at the Odd Fellows' hall last Thursday evening.

The Kimball public library will be closed all day Washington's birthday anniversary.

HARDWICK

Bridgman Golden Wedding Celebrated and Gallagher Silver Wedding.

A reception was given Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bridgman last week Thursday evening in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. R. B. Holton and Everett H. Bridgman rendered fine musical selections and Mrs. J. H. McLeod read letters of congratulation from friends who could not be present. Many beautiful gifts were presented, among which were a beautiful drawing of the old Bridgman homestead, gold beads, a gold pen, five-dollar goldpieces, a cut glass water set, a gold clock and many others.

George W. Bridgman and Helen M. McLeod were married Feb. 10, 1866, and went to live in Sutton. From there they moved to Barton in 1878, where Mr. Bridgman took an active part in public affairs. They came back to Hardwick after four years and lived on the home farm, which has been in possession of the Bridgman family since 1795. In 1905 they moved to their present home on North Main street.

At the present time both Mr. and Mrs. Bridgman enjoy good health, although they are respectively 78 and 75 years old.

A happy surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gallagher Wednesday evening, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was pleasantly passed with music, games and whist. Many beautiful silver gifts were presented to the bride couple as a token of friendship and good wishes.

Miss Mildred Courcy is on the sick list and absent from school.

In Memoriam—Mrs. John Maxwell.

Saturday, Feb. 12, 1916, marked the closing of a useful and beautiful life, when Mrs. John Maxwell passed away at her home in Iraville.

Eliza, daughter of Thomas and Margaret MacMullen Ferris, was born in Aramoy, County Antrim, Ireland, April 5, 1843. In early childhood she came to Waitsfield. She was married Jan. 4, 1869, to John Maxwell, and became the mother of nine children, eight of whom lived to grow to womanhood and manhood under her exemplary guidance and tender care. One little boy, Edwin J., died in 1881, at the age of eight years.

Mrs. Maxwell's life was largely devoted to the interests of her home, where no task was slighted by her so long as it added to the enjoyment or welfare of her family. She had a deep appreciation of the best in literature and was a great lover of poetry. A verse of Van Dyke's, copied in her diary, was one of her favorites: "Self is the only prison that can ever bind the soul; Love is the only angel who can bid the gates unroll; And when He comes to call thee, arise and follow fast; His way may lead through darkness, but it leads to light at last."

Though retiring and gentle in her manner, Mrs. Maxwell's nature held a fine Scotch-Irish strain of integrity and adherence to principles of right and justice that was inspiring to all with whom she associated, and the devotion of her life partner and her children, who tenderly cared for her during her last illness, was a fitting reward for a life nobly spent.

Besides her husband Mrs. Maxwell is survived by six daughters and two sons, Elizabeth B. Minnie M., Jennie E., wife of Arthur H. Bailey of Waterbury, Cora H., wife of Roy Richardson, Emily R., Claire E., James H. of Waterbury, and Charles R., of Whitewater, Wis., and two grandchildren, Max A. Bailey and Charles R. Maxwell, Jr.

The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 o'clock p. m., and Rev. G. F. Crawford of Randolph, a friend of the family, officiated. The bearers were Mrs. Maxwell's sons, J. H. and C. R. Maxwell, her sons-in-law, A. H. Bailey and Roy Richardson, and Lloyd Maxwell and Calvin Mehuron.

Friends from out of town were: J. W. Hodges, T. W. Carver, Mrs. Sarah Maxwell, Crawford Maxwell, Calvin Mehuron, Rollin Mehuron of Waterbury, James Ferris of Middlesex, Annie E. Crozier of Montpelier. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

No trumpet carried her fame afar As the full years onward rolled, And when at last she crossed the bar No bell the tidings tolled; But she builded well an earthly shrine, More fair than any other, Where memory's laurels intertwine Around the dear word, "Mother."

—F. B. D.

SOUTH RYEGATE

AMUSEMENT NOTES

To-night "Bringing Up Father," At the Barre Opera House.

Not even excepting the famous Florida sextet, has there ever been gathered together in one musical comedy company, such a galaxy of beautiful women, as is to be seen in Gus Hill's stage presentation of George McManus' newspaper cartoon piece, "Bringing Up Father," which is scheduled for appearance at the Barre opera house to-night. Their matchless beauty is augmented by costumes from the emporiums of Worth, of Paris, Haydon and Mme. Blum of New York, who were given carte blanche to dress these women in the latest costume creations. This special feature of the production is calculated to attract the women, and place before their eyes the very latest sartorial wrinkles.—adv.

"The Princess Pat" Coming.

Announcement is made of the early presentation by John Cort at the opera house of Victor Herbert's latest musical triumph, "The Princess Pat." Mr. Henry Blossom is the author of the book and lyrics, and Mr. Herbert has supplied Mr. Blossom's book with a score that is dainty, sweet, gay, spirited and rich in melody. This latest offering is said to be Victor Herbert all over again. His manner is in all the measures and all the orchestrations. Mr. Blossom's book has virtue of being entirely American. It seeks neither Paris nor the banks of the blue Danube, but finds its setting on Long Island. Mr. Blossom's book around which a fascinating entertainment is written, is sprinkled with the sort of jokes comic opera invites, but better jokes than the average librettist seems to be able either to select or create. The story is simple without being silly.

Mr. Cort has engaged a cast of rare talent and personalities that is especially fitted for the tasks imposed. Miss Ruth Week, a charmingly youthful, cherry, piquant "Princess Pat." She has excellent support in Georgio Gregario, Paul Nicholson, Earl Benham, Elsie Toye, Paul H. Ryley, Ben Hendricks, Tote Mark, Edward Metcalf and Harry Vincent.—adv.

GRANITEVILLE

Special meeting of division No. 2, A. O. H., will be held in Miles hall Sunday evening, Feb. 20, at 7 o'clock. Business of importance. All members are requested to be present. Per order of president, Peter Murphy.
